PROBLEM STATEMENT

The problem retailers face is that there is no system in place to record and maintain their inventory data. It is difficult for the owner to record inventory data quickly and securely because they only keep it in a logbook and are not properly organized.